

Correspondent Gateway

Juniper Payments specializes in the design, delivery and integration of web-based payment, reporting and settlement services for correspondent institutions and their customer base. Juniper's Correspondent Gateway service utilizes the latest in portal technology while pulling all transaction processes together into one system.

Many correspondent institutions utilize traditional corporate based treasury management platforms to service their customer's payment processes. Typically, these systems only provide fragmented pieces of the community FI's needs, forcing them to seek multiple correspondent vendor relationships, including an electronic connection via Fedline Advantage to the Federal Reserve. Furthermore, the need for a correspondent institution to maintain distributed upstream correspondent relationships lead to higher costs, dispersed accountability and decreased customer service while making it more difficult for the correspondent financial institution to garner and maintain the total relationship.

By aggregating all transaction and settlement services into one system, Juniper's Correspondent Gateway enables you to become the one place your customers will turn to for all of their transaction needs while eliminating the need for a Fedline terminal. This helps you build strong customer loyalty, expand your market footprint and increase revenue while you provide convenience, savings and expanded services to your customer base.

With the Correspondent Gateway, you get a branded, customized system built specifically for your institution. Throughout the implementation process, we work diligently to ensure that the system meets your unique needs. We provide the service and technology experts to consult, build, interface and test your system. Furthermore, we work closely with you to ensure the successful deployment and marketing of your system.

Tens of thousands of users in over three thousand financial institutions login to the Correspondent Gateway daily.

- Single sign-on access
- Customized service set
- Custom back-office integration
- Complete administrative control
- Simplifies operations and increases efficiency

Call: 316-267-3200 menu option 2 Email: info@juniperpayments.com